

FOXBOROUGH POWER FORWARD

Welcome to the Foxborough Power Forward electricity aggregation program

The Town of Foxborough is developing a plan for an electricity aggregation program, which will be named Foxborough Power Forward. Electricity aggregation is a way for a community served by a utility – in Foxborough’s case National Grid – to use the bulk purchasing power of its residents and businesses to negotiate a favorable price for their electricity supply. Electricity aggregation can make residents, businesses, and the Town stronger by working together.

Foxborough Power Forward benefits include potentially lower rates, rate stability, and the option to include greener energy sources. Foxborough will use a competitive bid process to choose an electricity supplier for the Town. The program will launch once the Town’s aggregation plan is approved by the Massachusetts Department of Public Utilities. The target launch is early 2017.

All Foxborough residents and businesses that currently receive National Grid Basic Service will be automatically enrolled in Foxborough Power Forward. Anyone who has already established a contract with their own electricity supplier will not be enrolled. Residents and businesses that do not wish to participate in Foxborough Power Forward will have the freedom to opt out of the program and remain with National Grid. After program launch, residents and businesses can continue to opt out at any time with no penalty.

Learn more about the program by reading the draft aggregation plan and the FAQ. If you have additional questions, please contact Marsha Armando, Executive Assistant to the Town Manager, by email at marmando@foxboroughma.gov.

Public Comment Period

The draft Foxborough Power Forward aggregation plan is available for review and public comment until 5:00 PM on July 5, 2016. To review the plan, you may download a copy by clicking here:
